Saturday Perplexities

TO be a shop of convenience as well as fashion—to offer selections and service which will enable you to make your Saturday purchases in the shortest space of time—is one of the purposes of the new Bedell shop in Thirty-fourth street.

Blouses and Coats are most seasonable offerings, but the special Saturday resources of the new establishment also extend to the big Gown and Millinery Salons and the Cabinet of Suits.

Coats of Infinite Variety

COATS sufficient to the weather today and to the many cold days to come—new models of graceful length, banded with fur and with the smart skating collars. Coats with the princess lines and coats with the fullness-without-flare skirt, like an officer's coat. No end to the variety at $20 and $25, taken direct from the models shown in the most exclusive shops. Broadcloths, velveteens and mixtures, and warm, soft-faced velours, silk lined in harmonizing shades.

At $35, $40 and $50, all-enveloping coats of brocades and furs, bespeaking at once the opera; and fur-trimmed coats of dark, rich velvets, which are equally smart before the sun goes down.

Blouses with Revers and Ruffles

HUNDREDS of new waists for tomorrow, purposely priced to be picked up in a hurry and leave a good impression. Assortments from brilliant evening waists of velvets and laces and metal embroideries to the plain tailored silk shirts and the new French patterns of big silk squares.

Jacket-like blouses, with set-in, contrasting vests, and the dark waists of navy blue or green which every one wants for certain occasions. New girlish Russian blouse, basque waists cut just snug enough—combinations of striped with plain materials, and every new style of collar, revers and ruffle.

Many at $3, $4, and $5—and others up to $50.

FAKE WIDOW OF FLAGLER, OIL KING, SENT TO PRISON

Mrs. Johnson, guilty in $15,000,000 Plot, Sent to Auburn for Not Less Than Three Years.

Insisting she is the bona fide widow of Henry M. Flagler, former Standard Oil magnate, Mrs. Zora Emma Howe Johnson, who was convicted of obtaining nearly $4,500 from Frank J. Maloney of No. 70 East One Hundred and Sixth Street by promising him $100,000 and a position at $20,000 a year when she got the $15,000,000 which she claimed had been left her by Flagler, was today sentenced to the State prison for women at Auburn for an indeterminate term of not less than three years and not more than nine years and six months. In passing sentence Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions denounced her as an impostor and dwelt considerably upon woman's influence and man's credulity.

Abraham Levy, Mrs. Johnson's attorney, announced that he will appeal from the conviction. Mr. Levy said he believed Mrs. Johnson was all that she claimed to be, and declared that when the proper time came a sensational story would be revealed.

GENERAL "ROSALIE" FREED.

Noted Suffrage Hiker Escapes Fine for Violating Automobile Law.

"General" Rosalie Jones, noted suffrage hiker and advocate, who was one of eighty-seven offenders arraigned today in Yorkville Police Court for violation of the rules governing motor cars, said right out in court she was thirty years old and that her occupation was chauffeur. She had been arrested at Park Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street for having no number on her car.

She explained to Magistrate Barlow that when her car was cleaned at her home in Syosset, L. I., she had forgotten to replace the license plate. The Magistrate admitted that a woman was entitled to at least one "forget," so he suspended sentence. The other offenders were fined in sums ranging from $5 to $100.
